The 4 Goodness of BROWN RICE

Good
for the Body

Brown rice has higher protein, fiber, vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants compared with white rice.

Good
for the Country

Brown rice could help achieve self-sufficiency because of the 10% higher milling recovery.

Good
for the Farmers

Buying brown rice would mean supporting our farmers and helping them increase their income.

Good
for the
Less Fortunate

For every hashtag, the Department of Agriculture will feed one less Filipino with brown rice through charities.

FAQs

- Can I include myself in the photo?
Yes. Even short video clips of you and the meal are welcome too. The key is to show your brown rice meal.
- I forgot to make my post and/or profile public. What do I do?
Hide/delete the old post, complete step 2 (see above), then repost.
- What will happen to my post if I did not use a hashtag for my region?
The donation would automatically go to charities in the National Capital Region.
- Can I post more than once?
Yes, because we need you to eat brown rice for good! Thus, you could post every time you would eat brown rice. The more posts you do, the more donations you could give. Tag more friends too, to spread the goodness of brown rice.
- I want to join but I don't know where to get brown rice.
We will be publishing a directory on our website and social media accounts soon. In the meantime, do reach us through any of the contact information so we can provide you recommendations.
